Frank Parker is a consultant with Crestview Strategy, based in Toronto. Prior to joining Crestview Strategy, Frank was a public affairs consultant working on various research, communications and government relations files for clients.

He also spent several years working on Parliament Hill in Ottawa, advising Cabinet Ministers, Senators and MPs on public policy, strategic communications and stakeholder relations. During this time, he prepared in-depth policy briefings, drafted speeches, and provided detailed data analyses on a wide variety of issues.

Frank has worked on numerous political campaigns at all levels, including two national political campaigns. He specializes in research, public policy development and strategic communications.
