Dan Moulton is based at our Toronto office and joins Crestview after five years at Queen's Park. He has extensive experience in strategy development, crisis communications, and political organizing.

During his time at the Government of Ontario, Dan served as a senior legislative and issues advisor to the Minister of Finance, and most recently, as Director of Communications to the Minister of Energy. In these roles he provided strategic leadership on some of the most challenging files in the government, including the 2013 and 2014 minority government budgets, the Hydro One initial public offering, the announcement of refurbishment at Bruce and Darlington Nuclear Generating Stations, an electricity trade agreement with Quebec, and the 2016 Speech from the Throne's electricity price mitigation measures.

A native of Woodstock - Ontario, Dan also served as the Ontario Liberal Party candidate in Oxford Country for the 2014 General Election. He holds an Honors degree in Political Science from Huron College at Western University, as well as a Master's of Science in International Relations from the University of Amsterdam.
